

WELCOME TO THE UNIVERSITY OF BONN

WELCOME TO ... THE JURIDICUM

AGENDA FOR TODAY

- Visa Issues
- Health insurance/Enrolment with the University of Bonn
- Housing
- Travelling to Bonn
- Classes of the first semester
- German Language Classes
- Your questions

- Apply to German embassies or consulates in your home country in good time
- Ensure valid visa and required documents before arrival
- You can apply for a (prospective) student visa and convert it to a residence permit for studying once you are in Germany
- Please note: A tourist visa cannot be converted to a student visa later on
- Please note that we are trying our best to support incoming international students, but contacting German embassies has usually not produced any results in the past

STUDENT VISA - LATE ARRIVALS

- Arriving late is not ideal as you will miss the first weeks of classes which usually will mean that you will not be able to take four exams in the first semester and that your studies will take longer than four semesters
- We will not generally be able to offer online classes, but our professors will make various options available to follow their classes – ranging from hybrid teaching via uploading past recordings of their classes to making their lecture slides available online
- Please make sure to enroll in time to get your student ID which you will need to join eCampus – our online learning platform

- Students are required by law to have health insurance
 - There are many different statutory and private health insurance providers
 - students are free to choose their form of health insurance and select a provider
 - statutory health insurance costs about 125 €/month, private may be less, in which cases coverage might be less encompassing - make sure to check the details!
 - Medical treatment in Germany is very good, there is a dense network of well-trained doctors – you have access whether you are insured by a statutory or a private health insurance policy

- EU Students : EHIC is sufficient
 - Public health insurance plans from the following countries are also valid:
 - Bosnia-Herzegovina, Iceland, Liechtenstein, Morocco, Macedonia, Montenegro, Norway, Switzerland, Serbia, Tunisia and Turkey
 - However, you will need a confirmation from a German statutory health provider that you do not need German health insurance
 - But: if you do a part-time student job or paid internship, you will need to take insurance with a German health insurance provider

HOUSING AND ACCOMMODATION

- Please note that you cannot rely on receiving a room through the Department of Economics. If you still want to try, you need to pay a deposit of € 300 by August 10 (room from October 1st) or September 10 (room from November 1st)
- Rooms will be allocated randomly.
- This deposit is required by the *Studierendenwerk to pay for your room should you reserve a room through us but later decide not to come to Bonn.
- Once you mail us your signed rental contract, it will be refunded in full. If you don't get a room through us, we will of course also refund the deposit in full.
- You have a second chance of getting a room by applying directly (without the hint) to the Studierendenwerk.

HOUSING AND ACCOMMODATION

- The department provides accommodation in association with the Studierendenwerk - you can only reserve a room starting the 1st of a month (start of the contract)
- To get your key, you will need to make an appointment with the dormitory's facility manager (or ask your friend to do that in case possible), we will provide you with their contact data. Please note that they are not available after hours or on holidays and may not speak English well
- 3rd October is a holiday, please plan your arrival accordingly.
- In case of arrival before the room reservation date, you will need to find short-term housing

Where to stay for the first few days?

If you do not have a permanent place to stay or you cannot move into your apartment or dorm just yet, a hostel or hotel may be an option for you.

Another option could be Sofa Frei, an initiative run by students for students, providing newcomers to Bonn with a temporary solution during their search for accommodation. This may involve offering a couch, a place for your inflatable mattress or even a guestroom for one night or more. In the following you will find some examples:

- ▶ www.asta-bonn.de/Sofafrei (German only)
- ▶ www.airbnb.de
- ▶ www.bonn.jugendherberge.de
- ▶ www.haus-venusberg.de (German only)
- ▶ www.basecamp-bonn.de (German only)
- ▶ www.max-hostel.de
- ▶ www.couchsurfing.com

Private housing

On the private accommodation market, you can find apartments as well as rooms in shared apartments (German: WG). Shared apartments are very popular since the occupants share the cost of the rent. Generally, everyone has their own room, while bath and kitchen are shared spaces. Rooms or apartments can be rented either furnished or unfurnished.

There are local newspapers and free weekly papers containing ads for apartments such as General-Anzeiger, Bonner Rundschau, Schnüss and Annonce. In the following you will find some examples. Please note that not every website is available in English:

LEARNING GERMAN

- For international students of the M.Sc. in Economics, we offer an Intensive Beginner's class in German Language (level A1 CEFR), as well as an A2.2 course for advanced learners. For details and class schedule, visit: <https://www.econ.uni-bonn.de/en/study-programs/master/information-for-incoming-masters/learning-german>
- Additional German language classes at various levels are offered by the University of Bonn's central International Office. They start in the 4th week of the semester but early registration is required.
- If you have advanced German skills, classes offered by the university Sprachlernzentrum at levels B2.2, C1.1, C1.2 might be of interest to you.
